April 1, 2008

Dear colleague,

I am pleased to announce this year's theme for Education Week (April 28 through May 2) is Energizing Young Minds.

This is a time for us to celebrate the excellent work underway in our publicly funded schools.

This year's theme recognizes the fundamental work done by our valued education partners. Energizing Young Minds also emphasizes the importance of working together to build a successful future — for our students, our education system and our province.

Thank you for your commitment to Ontario's students and to energizing education in our province.

I know that many of you are already planning activities during this week and I wish you much success. I encourage everyone to get involved in local Education Week activities.

Sincerely,
