Dear colleagues:

I am sure that you are very busy with the usual activities and celebrations that mark the end of June. This is a hectic time of year, but it also brings with it excitement for the summer months ahead.

As we finish up the 2007/08 school year, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for helping to make this year a success. Your time and talent have made a real difference to our students. They benefit every day from your dedication, energy, and enthusiasm.

The continued success in improving our publicly funded education system is thanks to the excellent work that you do to support Ontario's students every single day.

That success is also a result of the strengthened partnership between the government and all members of the education sector. And since all of our students benefit, it is essential that we continue to work together, share ideas, and learn from one another. Furthermore, we are optimistic that the progress we have made together over the last four years can be expanded through continued peace and stability.

As you approach your well-earned summer break, please let me once more offer my heartfelt thanks for the valuable work you do every day.

This has been my second year as Minister of Education, and you have made it an even greater pleasure than the first one.

Sincerely,
